What's Next In Mexico?

Mexico, torn by forty-six revolts in the last 113 years, now faces trouble with its most powerful neighbor. Of these revolts 22 have been successful in themselves and disastrous for the men who led them. Three of these leaders were forced to flee the country and two of them, Vincente Guerrero and Francisco Madero, were assassinated. The successive revolutions were:

February 24, 1821—Spain loses Mexico and Augustin de Iturbide elected president-regent twice and in 1822 crowned emperor.

May 11, 1823—Emperor Iturbide defeated by Santa Ana.

January 12, 1829—Revolution headed by Santa Ana results in election of President Guerrero and his inauguration in April.

December 4, 1829—Revolution by General Bustamante results in his election as president a year later.

December, 1832—Santa Ana revolts against Bustamante and Manuel G. Pedraza is made president.

December, 1833—Two-year revolution led by Santa Ana results in his being declared dictator.

April 29, 1837—General Bustamante appeals to people and is elected president after several small uprisings.

July 15, 1840—Mexico City entered by General Urrea, who proclaimed himself president.

August 8, 1841—Revolt led by General Paredes results in issuance by him of final pronunciamento against Bustamante.

December 6, 1844—General Herrera assumes government.

December 14, 1845—General Paredes deposes President Herrera.

August 4, 1846—General Jose M. Salas ousts Paredes.

July 27, 1852—Revolt started by General Blancarte and return of Santa Ana as president is announced. President Arias resigns the following year.

July, 1855—General revolt shakes the country and Santa Ana flees.

October 4, 1855—General Juan Alvarez made president and succeeded by Ignacio Comonfort.

January, 1858—Comonfort is betrayed by his friend, Zuluaga, who becomes president when Comonfort flees.

1861—Benito Juarez returns to Mexico, leads revolt and becomes president.

November, 1861—Maximilian proclaimed emperor upon the landing of the French.

July, 1867—Juarez leads another successful uprising and again becomes president.

1868—Revolt headed by Porfirio Diaz ends in death of Juarez.

November, 16, 1876—Diaz assumes presidency.

November 6, 1911—Revolt against Diaz led by Francisco Madero, who becomes president.

February 18, 1913—Victoriano Huerta proclaimed president after the Felix Diaz revolt.

February 23, 1913—Madero assassinated, supposedly by Huerta's henchmen.

April 9, 1914—Assistant United States paymaster and complement of men from the gunboat Dolphin arrested by Huerta officers at Tampico. Apology demanded, but not forthcoming.

April 14, 1914—Two fleets of United States battleships ordered to Mexican waters.

April 19, 1914—Huerta defies the United States and President Wilson decides on war measures.

April 21, 1914—Congress authorizes President Wilson to use armed forces in Mexico.

April 23, 1914—Admiral Badger completes seizure of Vera Cruz.

April 28, 1914—Mediation proposed by Chile, Brazil and Argentina.

April 30, 1914—General Funston begins administering Mexican civil law in Vera Cruz. Bluejackets retire and troops maintain martial law.

HAVE YOU A POINTED MUSTACHE? BEWARE

CHICAGO, April 24.—Edward Rochette, a salesman, began curling the ends of his mustache yesterday when arraigned before Municipal Judge Mahoney. He had been arrested on complaint of his wife. "Beware of the man with the pointed mustache who keeps curling it," said the judge. "You are not worth enough powder to blow you up. You're fined $100 and costs."

Have you a "stent" musical instrument in your home? Unless it's inherited there by sentiment, let a "for sale" ad in the Bonanza find a buyer for it.

GUGGENHEIMS BUY PLACER HOLDINGS IN TRINITY CO.

FOUR MILES OF AURIFEROUS RIVER GOES INTO A DREDGING COMPANY.

One of the most important dredging deals of late years in California was practically consummated last week, when engineers understood to represent the Guggenheims acquired extensive placer holdings along the Trinity river, near Trinity Center. The acreage comprises over four miles of placer land extending along the Trinity and tributary streams and includes large belts of virgin ground besides areas of placer deposits of known richness.

For more than a year options have been held on this territory, in which time extensive explorations have been carried on with diamond drills. Three of these machines have been steadily employed in the past few months, with several prominent engineers directing the work. Considerable prospecting has also been done by means of shallow shafts.

It is reported that two large dredgers probably will be erected this summer, the boats being a massive character. The ground is heavy, requiring powerful boats to handle the gravel.

The placer deposits in the vicinity of Trinity Center and Carrville have long been noted for their high gold values, and dredging on a small scale has been carried on for three years with excellent results by the Alta Bert dredging interests of San Francisco.

Another dredging deal, also credited to the Guggenheims, has been completed, whereby 1400 acres of placer ground near Igo, Shasta county, have been taken under bond and option, and prospecting started. A portion of this area includes the Russell gravel claims, where considerable rich material was uncovered a year ago. For months Porter & Thompson, representing Seattle and Los Angeles capital, endeavored to work the Russell ground with a dry-land dredge, but working costs proved too high. It is now planned to mine the deposits by the ordinary dredge method, providing the deeper gravels prove sufficiently attractive.

The possibilities of California dredging have claimed keen attention from the Guggenheim engineers in the past two years, and the great company is more heavily interested than most people are aware.

Some time ago the Yukon Gold company, one of the subsidiaries of the Guggenheim syndicate, purchased large areas of placer land on the American river, near the city of Auburn, and installed a reconstructed Orville dredge at Mammoth bar. The boat has been working with excellent success, and the company has taken options on adjacent ground.

BUYS INTEREST IN NATIONAL LEASE

D. R. Dwyer has purchased a quarter interest in the Hines-Baldwin lease at National. The Hines-Baldwin is situated on the White Rock claim, sidelining the property of the National Mines company. Recently the owners have been encountering high-grade ore that will value up to $50 a pound. The ore is of the same character as that of the National mines. Through continuous work underground the vein in the Hines-Baldwin lease has been connected up with the vein system which is the base of operations along the high-grade zone and from which veins such an immense fortune has been extracted. The present showing on the Hines-Baldwin is the bunches of high-grade with a streak on the hanging wall of the vein showing rich silver ore—Humboldt Star.

WORKS ALL NIGHT, WIFE MAKES HIM COOK

CHICAGO, April 29.—Alexander Ray, a switchman, was paroled for six months by Judge Mahoney in the Stockyards court. He had been charged with abusing his wife.

"Judge, I work all night, and I have been finding it necessary to cook my own breakfasts when I get home, or else go hungry. That is the trouble," said Ray.

But the judge thought maybe Ray had some slight provocation.
